EATH HERE ENDS OLD MURDER HUNT

URNS PLEADS GUILTY TO BURYING HIS WIFE ALIVE

AP TWO ELYRIANS BOOZE MAKING; NE BOTH $500.00

Acting on a tip received Saturday night, Officers Sweet and Waldron, went to 433 Oxford street, where they found an automobile with five quarts of whiskey in it. They arrested Albert Zimmer, 205 Blaine street, and took him to the police station on the charge of illegal possession of liquor.

Still In Operation

They then returned to the house on Oxford street and searched the premises. Here they found a fifteen gallon still in operation, about fifty gallons of mash, a jug and a keg of liquor, and several filled bottles. They arrested Paul Van Trot, the proprietor.

It is charged that Van Trot has been making liquor for some time, and that he was one of the sources of supply in this city. He had a fine still and everything necessary to make a good grade of whisky. This morning in police court both men plead guilty to the charge against them and were fined $500 and costs each which was paid.

Officers also arrested Louis and Julia Polchay, 244 West River street Saturday night. Two quarts of raisin jack were found on the premises. They were released on bail, and will be tried later.

Asleep at Wheel

John Poprack, of Lorain, was arrested by Officer Johnson on a charge of violating the traffic ordinance. The officer's attention was called to his erratic driving of his automobile, and when he found the machine parked on West River street, Poprack was sound asleep at the wheel, as the result of drinking. When he woke up he was in a cell at police station. He was fined $25 and costs by Mayor Jones.

Find Booze in Car

Yesterday afternoon Deputy Sheriffs Mathews, Bivin and Adams arrested Pete Fisco, Lorain, while he was driving his auto on Seneca street. A search of his machine disclosed several bottles of liquor. On searching him a loaded revolver was also found. He was then charged with transporting liquor and carrying concealed weapons. This morning he plead guilty to both charges before Justice S. J. George and was fined $500 for transporting, and $100 and costs for carrying concealed weapons.

BREAKS GROUND FOR POLISH CHURCH

Ground was broken Sunday afternoon at 3:30 for Holy Cross Catholic church, to be erected at the corner of West avenue and 14th street, for the new Polish organization.

There were many communicants of the congregation and of the faith present when Rev. Father Joseph L. Kuta, present pastor at Grafton, held services and blessed the ground. Father Kuta will be pastor of the congregation. For a long time they have worshiped in the rooms in the basement of St. Mary's church.

Work is to be begun immediately by the United States Engineering Co., Cleveland, which has the contract for the erection of the church and school. The buildings will be of pressed brick, reinforced concrete and steel. The church will have a seating capacity of six hundred, and the school will have four regulation class rooms and a hall with a seating capacity of 450. At present there are 180 Polish families in the city according to Father Kuta.

The church councilmen are L. Smithkowski, J. Karmilowics, A. Novak and Mr. Kaczmarek. Father Kuta was born and raised in Berea, and was educated in Cleveland. He was formerly pastor in Toledo, where he built St. Stanaslaus' church and school on grounds that cover over fifty city lots, at an expense of $200,000.

COLUMBUS, March 5 — The Farnsworth - Green co-operative marketing bill now before the state legislature was given the hearty approval of the Co-operative Live-stock Shippers Association here.

LOGAN, March 5.—Donald Gianchetti, seven year old Italian boy living near Cedar Falls, lost his life there by falling in a well. The body of the child was not found for several hours.

INHUMANE SLAYER TO REPENT TWICE WEEKLY FOR LIFE

PAINESVILLE, O., March 5.—Henry D. Burns, charged with wife murder, this afternoon entered a plea of guilty to murder in the second degree and was immediately sentenced to life imprisonment in the Ohio penitentiary. He must spend two days each week in solitary confinement and three days each week at hard labor.

Suddenly Ends Trial.

The end came after court had been adjourned this morning to permit of conferences between attorneys for state and defense. Coming from the offices of the prosecutinging attorney, Judge P. L. A. Leighley, of Cleveland, Burns' chief counsel, said:

"I plead my client guilty to second degree murder."

"This is the most brutal crime of which I have any knowledge," said Judge A. G. Reynolds in passing sentence. It has shocked the community and the state. Henry D. Burns, stand up."

The prisoner, spick and span in one of his suits, purchased especially for the trial, appeared unconcerned as he faced the judge.

The judge imposed the limit under the law. Burns must spend two days each week in solitary confinement for the term of his natural life and three days each week at hard labor.

Was Brutally Beaten.

The body of Mrs. Hazel Burns was found last October in what is known as the "B. & O. woods," near the Mentor marsh at Mentor, Ohio. Indications pointed to the fact that the woman had been brutally beaten and then buried still alive in a shallow grave.

Burns, a Cleveland business man, who had risen from humble beginnigs to a considerable fortune, was arrested at his place of business the night the murder was discovered.

Despite use of the third degree and continuous grilling without rest for more than eight hours continually, he maintained his innocence. "There's been a horrible mistake," he said. "They've got the wrong man. I loved Hazel and of course I wouldn't kill her.

Selection of a jury to try him on three counts of murder was begun last Monday. Eleven jurors were in the box when the end came with the voluntary plea of guilty.

CONGRESS ENDS MEET UNTIL DECEMBER

Fifteen Senators and 126 Representatives Were Members of Outgoing Rush

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The troubles of congress were packed in the old kit bag today to be laid away until December as an army of legislators began an exodus from the capitol following adjournment of the 67th congress.

Senators, congressmen and their multitudinous assistants were headed for the seashores, the mountains, the farms back home, even Europe—anywhere so long as it took them away from Washington—to enjoy the longest congressional vacation in eight years. Before the week ends only a corporal's guard will remain on capitol hill where congress has been in session almost continuously since December 1920.

New Members Arrive.

Fifteen senators and 126 representatives were in the outgoing rush with no prospects of returning to congress until their people back home change the verdict rendered at the polls last November. Their offices were being cleared for incoming legislators who won the November verdict.

While the republicans held one-sided majorities in the congress just ended, their lead will be materially reduced when they meet again in December. In both house and senate, progressive groups within the republican ranks will hold the balance of power. In the senate there will be 53 republicans, 42 democrats, and one independent, while the house will show 225 republicans, 207 democrats and three scattered votes. The democrats gained five seats in the senate, while the republicans lost six and gained 75 seats in the house, while the majority last 76 compared to the lineup in the congress just adjourned.

While the exodus was in gropress two ex-senators and three ex-representatives remained in Washington to assume new public duties allotted them by President Harding.

The proposed senatorial invasion of Europe also gathered recruits. With Senator Underwood, democrat of Alabama, already "over there." Senator William Johnson, republican, of California, closed his desk in preparation for a three-months' tour of France, England and Germany. Senator Borah, republican of Idaho, who will carry his foreign invasion all the way to Russia, also was arranging passports, while Senator Morris, republican of New Hampshire, was packing his grips for a trip to the Near East and Balkan states. A half dozen other senators expected to be Europe bound before the end of the month.

Many Bills Die.

With the death of congress, a score of imporiant bills were tossed into the congressional wastebasket. These included the administration ship subsidy, and the Dyer anti-lynching bills, killed by filibusters, the McNary reclamation bill, the Capper truth-in-fabric bill, the Gooding wheat stabilization bill, the Dial cotton futures act, and the Norris measure advancing the date of presidential inauguarations and the convening of congress.

With the sole exception of the Dyer bill, vigorous attempts will be made to enact these measures in December. Until congress does come back, even these measures will be forgotten in the ennui that has fallen over capitol hill.

HOLDING LIGHT CONCLAVE

LORAIN, March 5.—This afternoon Superintendent F. M. Coen, of the Lake Shore Electric General Manager, J. B. Johnson of the Ohio Public Service Co., and city officials will hold a conference regarding the proposed white way that will light up the business district.

HARDING MAKES APPOINTMENT, STARTS TRIP

Leaves Capitol For First Time Since Flying Trip to Marion

WASHINGTON, March 5.—With congress and its attendant worries off his hands virtually for the first time since he entered the White House, President Harding left Washington today for the first real vacation in the past 12 months. Incidentally, his departure today marked his first absence from Washington since he returned from a flying trip to Marion last July.

The strain of the twelve months grind has told on the president. He appeared tired this morning as he prepared to join in the exodus of notables from the capital, on the heels of the departing congress. There were lines in his face that were not there a year ago, and there was little or that freshness and buoyancy in his bearing that was so noticeable two years ago today when he first took up the heavy duties of the presidency.

"Convalescent Special"

The Harding train was nicknamed "convalescents' special" when it pulled out of Union station. Aboard it were Mrs. Harding, now in the final stages of recovery from the nearly fatal illness that has kept her confined to the White House for six months; and Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, who has not been at his desk in the department of justice for some weeks. Others in the party were the secretary of war and Mrs. Weeks, Secretary of labor Davis, A. D. Lask-

GERMANY PLANS TO BREAK DIPLOMATIC TERMS WITH FRANCE

PARIS, March 5.—Chancellor Wilhelm Cuno, of Germany will announce in the Reichstag tomorrow the government's intention of breaking off diplomatic relations with France, according to a Rhineland report printed by the Matin today.

LONDON, March 5.—Reports were received here today by way of Paris that Chancellor Wilhelm Cuno, of Germany will ask the Reichstag to break off German diplomatic relations with France. Chancellor Cuno called off his Munich trip so that he could appear in person before the extraordinary session of the Reichstag in Berlin tomorrow.

Workers Pledge Fidelity

(Copyright 1923 by International News Service.)

ESSEN, March 5.—Employes of the Krupp works, formerly the greatest manufacturer of war materials in the world, were pledged to yield to the French at a "secret jubilee" of 1,040 workers Sunday afternoon. Four women were present, including Frau Bertha Krupp-Bohlen, whose family established the plant.

The International News Service correspondent was the only foreign newspaper man present. The affair was marked by the first public utterance of Dr. Krupp Von Bohlen Halbach since the French invaded the Ruhr. In a speech to the assemblage he expressed the firmest will not to yield to the French.

'All of us bear responsibility to our country, but only as free men, not as slaves," declared the speaker." That was the meaning of Germany's whole attitude."

Diamond Jubilee

Frau Bertha Krupp-Bohlen together with five of her seven children, and her mother, were present. The monster jubilee (the diamond jubilee of the founding of the plant) was attended altogether by about 5000 persons. All had been warned to keep the affair secret lest the French interfere and break it up.

Under a recent proclamation of General De Goutte, French commander in chief, due notice must be given of all such gatherings. The jubilee was twice postponed for fear of French interference.

Frau Bertha Krupp-Bohlen handed out to the guests diamond pins and each was accompanied by a hearty handclasp. In previous years money bonuses were distributed, but this year it was not done for fear of French seizures. Employes received gifts of money today while at work.

So tightly guarded were the secret arrangements that the French had no inkling of the affair, although this city swarms with French detectives and spies. Only a few scores of yards from the scene a company of French soldiers was quartered and huge tanks squatted in the streets or rumbled lazily back and forth.

Following the remarks of Dr. Krupp Von Bohlen Halbach a spokesman for the workers, in behalf of all Krupp labor, solemnly pledged loyalty to the Krupps.

"During the past week and in the hard times we still have ahead of us and while we are defending ourselves against our enemies and against oppression we are NOT fighting in a military sense, but as peaceful men. Every worker, every German must realize how closely we are all dependent upon each other. The German worker knows what is at stake in the Ruhr struggle.

"If the French succeed German workers must sacrifice their labor

LACKS SUPPORT, M'NARY WON'T ACCEPT POST

Crissinger to Remain As Comptroller Until Harding Returns; New Appointees Take Oaths

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Because he did not have the full support of the senate, James G. McNary, of Texas, today declined to accept a recess appointment as comptroller of the currency.

Following the failure of the senate to confirm McNary's nomination before the end of the 67th congress, President Harding called him to the White House this morning and offered him the job.

McNary promptly declined. It was announced subsequently that D. R. Crissinger, of Marion, Ohio, who has been confirmed as governor of the federal reserve board, will continue to serve as comptroller until the president gets back from Florida.

Take New Oaths

Former Senator Harry S. New, of Indiana, was sworn in at 10:30 o'clock this morning as postmaster general, succeeding Dr. Hubert Work of Colorado, who President Harding transferred to the interior department.

Work took the oath as secretary of the interior at 10:35 a. m. He was sworn in by W. B. Acker, an attorney for the department. Work succeeds Albert B. Fall, of New Mexico, resigned.

Former Congressman Frank W. Mondell, of Wyoming, was sworn in at 10:30 o'clock this morning as a member of the war finance corporation.

Reveal Charges

In the face of strong indications from the White House that President Harding will appoint James G. McNary, of Texas comptroller of the currency despite the failure of the senate to approve his nomination, Senator James Couzens, republican of Michigan, today issued a formal statement in which he made public for the first time the charges against McNary.

These charges involved McNary's transactions with his own bank at Elpaso, Texas, and were the subject of a long investigation by the senate banking and currency committee.

Among the charges made by Couzens against McNary were:

1—"That for a period of more than five years he was a continuous borrower from the bank of which he was president (First National Bank of Elpaso, Texas), in amounts ranging from $10,000 to $100,000, unsecured;

2—"That he, as directing head of the bank, was continuously criticized for excessive loans made to officers and directors; that, at one time 88 per cent of the capital and surplus funds of the bank was loaned directly to officers and directors of the bank, and 69 per cent of the capital and surplus of the same bank to corporations in which said officers were interested."

FIND MAN WITH BODY RIDDLED

CHICAGO, March 5.—Joseph Salantino 45, was shot seven times and killed in a mysterious revolver affray early today a stone's throw from Chicago's notorious "death corner." Anthony Jonbello, 21, was wounded twice and may die.

A third man, John Marsa, was held by the police as a witness.

CHARLESTON W. Va., March 5.—A personal survey of conditions in the Logan county coal fields will be made by Rev. Henry S. Huntington, member of the visiting party, which conducted a "free speech" meeting at Logan last night according to reports received here.

MRS. HAROLD MITCHELL DIES AT RIDGEVILLE

Mrs. Edith May Mitchell, nee Johnson, wife of Harold E. Mitchell, died Saturday morning at the Mitchell residence in North Ridgeville. The deceased was 24 years of age and death occurred after an illness of two years.

She is survived by her husband, one sister, Miss Louise Sayers of North Ridgeville, three brothers, Charles Johnson of Lakewood, George Johnson, an officer on the ocean, and Alfred Johnson of Akron.

Funeral services will be held on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock from the Mitchell home on Launsborough Road. Burial at Fields cemetery.

JOHN HULF, JR., 56, ABSENT 35 YEARS: CAME HOME TO DIE

A murder mystery of thirty-five years ago was partially solved Saturday night, when the police were notified of the death of John Hulf, 56, at the home of his sister, Miss Julia Hulf, who lives at 576 W. Broad street, over George Beavor's soft drink place.

The discovery created a sensation as Hulf had been sought for many years on a charge of murdering his wife on Franklin avenue, Cleveland, and then dropping out of sight, never to be seen and recognized until the news came of his death.

Lost Arm and Eye

The fact that Hulf was crippled by the loss of his left arm at the elbow, and that his right eye was gone, made it difficult for a man so marked to hide his identity, but he did so completely, although a reward of $1,000 was offered by Cuyahoga county authorities and the police of the entire nation were hunting for him. Where he spent the intervening years is as much a mystery today, as at any previous time.

Hulf was a son of John Hulf, Sr., and came here with his parents, from Amherst when but a boy. He had lost his arm and eye in a hunting accident, while in Amherst. He entered the Elyria schools and those who remember him say that he was a likeable young man. After leaving school he attended Oberlin business college for a while and also studied law at Toledo University, later turning his attention to railroad work.

He went to live in Cleveland, and married a girl from Ravenna. Their married life was not a happy one and they separated. According to reports current at that time the wife obtained employment, and Hulf became jealous of her movements. One day while she was on Franklin avenue, it is alleged he slipped up behind her, and slashed her throat with a razor, and she died within a short time after. He disappeared and no one could be found who ever saw him after.

Thought He Suicided

Later a hole in the ice of the river with Hulf's coat lying beside it, gave rise to the theory of suicide and the Cleveland police records contain a notation to that effect.

His home in this city was watched by the local police, but his parents, now dead, always contended that they never had heard a word from him, and it was a great sorrow to them, especially to the mother.

His return was as sensational as his disappearance. Miss Julia Hulf stated to a reporter of The Chronicle-Telegram that on Saturday night February 24, her door bell rang. She answered it and a man was pushed into the hallway by another man who stood outside. At the same time he said "Good bye John." The man in the hallay said, "Good bye Jim," and the door was closed.

Miss Hulf looked at him, and said "Who are you?"

"I am your brother John," was the reply, "and I have come home to die."

"I was so frightened that I did not know what to do," said Miss Hulf. "but I helped him upstairs and got him onto the bed. He told me that a doctor had told him he had but a week to live, and that he wanted to die at home. I took care of him the best I could, and never even notified my sister, Mrs. E. H. Hansman. I did not answer the telephone or the door bell when it rang. I wanted to get a doctor, but he did not want one. When the door bell or telephone rang he called my attention to it, and told me to answer, but I did not. Saturday when he became so bad he said to me:

"I Have Prayed"

"Sister I am dying."

"I replied, 'Pray brother, and I will pray also.'"

"He replied, 'My mother taught me to pray and I have done so all my life.'"

She was asked whether he told her where he had been all this time.

"He never told me a thing," was the reply. "I don't know anything about where he was, for I supposed he was dead until he returned. We never received a scratch of a pen, or a word from him, and it was a great trial to all of us, for we did not know whether he was living or dead." She reiterated this statement several times. Hulf maintained absolute silence as to where he had been or what he had been doing. "But once during his illness did he mention any one" said Miss Hulf. "Then he spoke of a man he called Jim, and said, 'Jim, you have been so good to me,'"

After his death Miss Hulf called William Sudro, the undertaker. He

SAYS TUT'S BODY WAS REMOVED LONG AGO

French Egyptologist Claims Delay in Opening Tomb Was Admission of Failure

PARIS, March 5.—Tut-Ankh-Amen's body had been removed from its 3000 year old tomb in the valley of the kings even before Lord Carnarvon's exploration party broke the seals on the inner chamber of the crypt, according to a statement printed by the newspaper L'Oeuvre today.

An anonymous French Egyptologist, who was described by the newspaper as "noted" was quoted as saying:

"Lord Carnarvon's excuses for postponing investigation of the inner tomb were most flimsy. He said it was too hot to remove the mummy from the sarcophagus, but the queen of Belgium, who is a sensible woman as to dress, wore furs the day the inner chamber was opened for investigation.

"The real reason was that Tut-Ankh-Amen's coffin was empty. His body already had been removed. But Lord Carnarvon, after the extraordinary publicity he and his expedition had received, could not afford to face failure.

"Finding a sarcophagus empty is a most common experience of egyptologists. But most of us who have explored in Egypt did not sell photographic and newspaper rights in advance."

AMHERST MAN IS NEW TEACHERS' PRESIDENT

A re-organization of the Lorain County Teacher's Institute took place Saturday at the meeting held at technical high school building, at which teachers and educators from both city and country were present.

It was decided to change the name to The Lorain County and City Teacher's Institute. A new constitution and by laws were adopted which provides that the executive committee shall include the officers of the institute, the county superintendent, and the superintendents at Elyria, Lorain and Oberlin.

The new officers chosen are president, F. R. Powers, Amherst; vice president, A. S. Gregg, Lorain; secretary-treasurer, J. J. Vaughn, Elyria.

Resolutions were adopted expressing approval and unqualified support of the State teacher's retirement law, without change. That vigorous support be given the National Educational Association, the Ohio State Teachers Association, the Northeastern Ohio Teachers Association, and a recommendation made that every teacher in Lorain county be made a member. A further resolution recommended that the institute should hold an annual session for five consecutive days.

NAME NEW MEMBER CO. VISITING BOARD

This morning the county commissioners named Mrs. Bertie Whitehill, of Lorain, as a member of the board of visitors for the Oberlin home, in place of Mrs. Eva E. Hills, of Lorain, who resigned on account of ill health. The appointment is for four years.

THE HON. BOURKE COCHRAN

The Hon. Bourke Cochran, Congressman from New York City, has passed away.

Mr. Cochran was one of the most picturesque personalities which ever appeared in the halls of the American Congress. He was remarkably endowed by nature with a wonderful voice, and with a marvelous genius for logical expression. Mr. Cochran was one of the most eloquent men that America ever saw. He was known as a keen and able debater on both sides of the Atlantic. While the cause of his own people, the Irish, always appealed to the most profound depths of his nature, at the same time he was alive to every phase of human liberty.

The feats of persuasion which Mr. Cochran performed at various times in his history approached almost the miraculous. Whether his audience was composed of just the average common citizens, or of attorneys and jurists, it was all the same to Mr. Cochran. He seemed to touch upon every chord of human sympathy and intellect in his marvelous appeals to the mind and to the emotions.

Mr. Cochran's limitations were not due to any prescriptions that seemed to have been either on his mind or on his power of expression. We believe that the reason he did not loom higher above the horizon in the public life of America was due to a certain lack of devotion, or abandon, to the cause of humanity as such. It seemed at times that he loaned his remarkable power to causes that were unworthy of such power. He served Tammany Hall altogether too well. His remarkable endowments were so completely under control of his will, that he could, unfortunately, direct them wherever he chose, regardless of the purpose or end in view.

It was because of this element of loyalty at times, or almost subserviency, to interest, which seemed to those who admired Mr. Cochran, far unworthy of him, that caused a certain lack of faith in his sincerity. Not that anyone could doubt his sincerity as they listened to him. That was impossible. But rather in considering his movements from one campaign to another, and comparing one of his speeches with another, one was lead to doubt that Mr. Cochran had consecrated his almost unequalled genius to the highest good.

We do not believe that even Mr. Bryan was the equal of Mr. Cochran in his power to sway his audience. (incidentally battle took place between these two giants at the last National Convention of the Democratic party on the question of a prohibition plank in the Democratic platform,) but in the labors of Mr. Bryan there has been a continuity of purpose that Mr. Cochran has not known. We believe that the creator endowed Mr. Cochran with a keener intellect than he did Mr. Bryan, but did not place in him as true an equilibrium.

Mr. Cochran combined the reasoning of Webster, with the power which we imagine Henry Clay had. In reading his addresses and debates one marvels at his versatility and command of diction, and at the same time wonders why it is that he did not accomplish more in the world for human welfare. Sad to say, one comes to the conclusion that he did not accomplish more, because with all his gifts he lacked the one which would have made him realize that he had a real mission upon earth.

THE CRIMES OF THE PRESS

Under the above caption a New York Times of recent date comments upon popular criticism of journalists and their ways. It touches a responsive cord and we reprint the editorial in part as follows:

"Breathes there the man with soul so dead who never to himself hath said, I could run a newspaper, or all the newspapers, better than the subsidized and incompetent scoundrels who are doing it now! If so, we have never met him. However complete and evident a failure he may be as a business man, a citizen, a husband and a father, there is one point on which the average man will admit of no doubt whatever—his ability to manage a newspaper. It must be admitted that editors invite some of this criticism by the very nature of their calling, which requires them to make comments on the shortcomings of public men. Very likely the editor of The Marion Star, for example, when he retires to private life, will be rather more lenient in his comments on harassed executives. Nevertheless, we venture to believe that even the production of a newspaper is a form of skilled labor, and not so easy as it looks."

"The very volume of the News," it continues, quoting Mr. Herbert S. Houston, "from all the world offered to readers today is bringing some disadvantage with it. We need, not only the news, but the interpretation of the news: the interpretive journalist should follow the reporting journalist and bring the flood within the channel of ordered knowledge. Very true. Too much of the world is with us. But when the interpretive journalist tries to bring the flood within the channel somebody will rise up to say that it is the wrong channel. In a recent article in The Dearborn Independent, containing a good deal of truth and a good deal of nonsense, the point, in so far as there was one, seems to have been that there was too much interpretation. Let the reporter stick to reporting. Certainly everybody who disagrees with the interpretive reporter will denounce him as a distorter of the news and will call for what are rather loosely known as 'the facts.' The truth is that most readers, and certainly most readers of the class which is so free with criticism, have only one criterion for the accuracy of news, comment or interpretation. If it agrees with the reader's previous opinion, it is true; if it conflicts with that opinion, it is a piece of lying propaganda and the paper has been bought by British gold or Bolshevist gold."

Looks as though the "lame ducks" are doing the fox trot out of the Capitol.

The Democrats put over a vote barrage and a lot of the Republicans are coming out of the trenches.

Hope Pomerene has saved up enough to buy a new hat. He don't have to wear that broad-brimmed one any longer—he ain't running for anything.

If "Uncle Joe" Cannon was from Pittsburgh they'd never let him out—not as long as he advertised their stogies.

Now that Volstead is through—there won't hardly be a dry "aye" in the house.

The President is sending Poindexter to Peru—He might just as well let him go home.

After "serving the people" so long it will be a shame now if these boys can't find work—most of 'em are deserving.

Frelinghuysen has been playing golf with the President so long it will be hard for him to get used to playing checkers with the boys back home.

They ought to take the Senate out of politics like they do the Postmastership—examine the applicants and then appoint the one who runs third in the examination.

Of course I don't suppose it made much difference with Ross Fauver—he's been in the "dry cleaning" business so long, it won't hurt him to take a little of his own medicine.

But some of those Senators' wives gave them a talking to—"The idea of our leaving here, just when we're getting nicely acquainted."

Too bad that Wisconsin didn't elect "Laughalot." He could take the place of two lame ducks.

They always call Bryan "The Great Commoner." Guess he ain't any commoner than a lot of the other poor crutches.

They never laughed at his leaving Washington. They never had a chance—neither did he.

About the only chance some of those brothers have is to have a cigar named after 'em—or get their pictures in the papers for taking Peruna.

The country will probably get over it a long time before they will—but they don't think so.

I've read the lives of some of 'em. They were all "born in log cabins" but they're living in stone fronts now.

TIMELY VIEWS ON WORLD TOPICS

"GROWTH OF STAR NOTHING NEW," SAYS PRINCETON ASTRONOMER

"The entire population of the earth would be destroyed," declared Dr. Henry Norris Russell, Professor of Astronomy at Princeton, "if the sun should undergo an increase in magnitude equal to that reported in the case of Beta Ceti of the Constellation of Cetus."

Dr. Russell was commenting upon the recent observation made by M Camillo Flammarion in Greece of the change in size of the celestial body Beta Ceti. He does not, however, believe there is any great danger of the sun suddenly enlarging, although he says it is no new thing for stars to get brighter and hotter.

Beta Ceti can be seen from any part of the world when the weather is clear, according to Professor Russell, and at the present time between five and six o'clock almost any evening for a period of about half an hour. He believes the observation reported by the scientist to be of great practical interest, since never before has such a large star changed size.

The star is almost infinitesimally removed from us, and Dr. Russell says it takes eighty years for its light to reach us. It is now very low in the west and southwest, and at the time when it can be seen, just about sunset, it is almost due southwest. The professor was unwilling to make any predictions as to whether the change in Beta Ceti has any significance, but says there is no doubt as to the authenticity of the report, since the Societe Astronomique is one of the most reliable in the world.

Dr. Russell said that the earth would not be consumed if the sun should undergo the same change and suddenly grow ten times hotter. However, he maintained that the entire population would be summarily wiped off by the intense heat and that the surface of the earth would be scorched and dried of all moistures. Perhaps the often debated possibility of the world's coming to an end is not untrue, but until he has observed carefully and received the observations of astronomical stations which have an equipment superior to the one at Princeton Dr. Russell declines to offer an opinion on the significance of the change in Beta Ceti.

"MANY OBJECTS IN TUT'S TOMB MIGHT HAVE BEEN STOLEN TREASURES," SAYS PROFESSOR

The theory that Tut-ankh-Amen was a receiver of stolen goods and that not all the things found in his tomb were his by right was put forward recently by Professor Robert William Rogers, Visiting Professor of Ancient Oriental Literature at Princeton and authority on early civilizations. The multiplicity of objects might indicate, he thought, that many of them were put there by priests for safekeeping when they found that other tombs were in danger of being robbed, as mummies of other Kings were found placed in a single tomb.

After calling attention to the two terminations of King Tut-ankh Amen's name which showed how he wavered between two faiths, Rogers said.

"He was a turncoat, this fellow. In that outer tomb have been found great masses of stuff, of which we have had yet no scientific account, merely a popular account. What is the explanation? I believe that Tut-ankh-Amen is really a receiver of stolen goods. These things may have come out of the other tombs, when the priests saw that the other tombs would be rifled, and put away in another place, like the mummies in the tomb of Amenhotep II.

"What we want we haven't got as yet. We want records from that tomb, a book, a papyrus, telling about this man and his reign, and then we will talk about this being the greatest discovery. But great or not, it has aroused interest, and it was needed to stimulate interest in he Oriental word. There are all too few scholars and they are dying out and new men do not seem to fill their places. So I say hurrah for the newspapers."

POEMS THAT LIVE

LITTLE BOY BLUE

The litle toy dog is covered with dust,
But sturdy and stanch he stands;
And the little toy soldier is red with rust,
And his musket moulds in his hands.
Time was when the little toy dog was new,
And the soldier was passing fair;
And that was the time when our Little Boy Blue
Kissed them and put them there.

"Now, don't you go till I come," he said,
"And don't you make any noise!"
So toddling off to his trundle bed,
He dreamt of his pretty toys;
And, as he was dreaming, an angel song
Awakened our Little Boy Blue,
Oh! the years are many; the years are long,
But the little toy friends are true!

Ay, faithful to Little Boy Blue they stand,
Each in the same old place—
Awaiting the touch of a little hand,
The smile of a little face;
And they wonder, as waiting the long years through,
In the dust of that little chair,
What has become of our Little Boy Blue,
Since he kissed them and put them there.

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAY'S NEWS

DEAN ANDREW F. WEST

ANDREW F WEST

"One of the worst delusions now current in educational circles is that a special so called practical education for this or that vocational end is the education which will enable a boy or girl to rise in the scale of life."

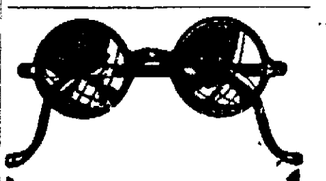

This is the statement of Dean Andrew F. West of the graduate school of Princeton University. West believes that the modern education has so multiplied its studies and gathered together such a huge miscellany that it is almost impossible to get it into manageable form. He thinks the solution for the muddle is to make all forms of education designated as special vocational, business and the like should give way to the general foundation preparing for the whole life. Rigorous selection and simplification all the way through to the end of college education is the one key to the situation, he explains.

West was born in Allegheny, Pa., in 1853. H is the son of a minister and he received his A. B. from Princeton in 1874 and his Ph. D. in 1883. He has also taken degrees at Lafayette College and Oxford University. He was made a member of the faculty of Princeton in 1883 as a professor of Latin and in 1901 he was made Dean of the graduate school, a position he has held ever since.

West is the author of several books on education particularly university and classical education and he also has several textbooks to his credit. He is a trustee of the American Academy in Rome and president of the American Classical League.

SETS HOUSE ON FIRE TO SUICIDE

SOUTH LEBANON, O., March 5.—W. E. McClung, 45 years old, today locked himself in his home, one mile north of Mason near here, and fired the building. He perished amid the flames before aid could reach him.

McClung, who was defendant in a divorce suit scheduled for hearing Thursday, had been living in Lebanon with his two daughters, teachers, who said he had manifested evidences of mental instability recently.

By the time residents of neighboring farms reached the blazing home, the fire had gained such headway that only a few pieces of furniture were saved. McClung's body was found in the cellar.

Germany Plans

to hostile supervising and our living can only become worse. No Krupp workers, no German workers will be trapped by French lures and snares."

Then followed more "loyalty speeches" with thunderous "hochs" for the Krupps.

Baffled Poilus

At the conclusion the assemblage quietly broke up and the people quickly dispersed. The Krupps drove off in two discreet looking carriages, their automobiles having been confiscated by the French.

A few minutes later a strong French patrol, carrying bayonetted rifles, that had been posted about the buildings looked on in amazement at numerous silk hats and frock coats about them while solemn faced Germans scattered in every direction.

In the same hall where the jubilee celebration was held the former kaiser, just four weeks before the 1918 revolution received the pledge of the Krupp workers to himself.

Effects U. S. Trade

LONDON, March 5.—America has become so concerned over the effect of the Ruhr customs blockade upon American trade that Washington already has made representations to France, according to reports current here today in diplomatic circles.

While the source of the report is not definite, the report itself is detailed. It is understood that the United States is likely to follow the policy of 1914 when Washington defended the rights of neutral commerce against the allied blockade of Germany. It is reported that the United States wishes to obtain trade conditions similar to those before the French invasion.

Myron T. Herrick, American Ambassador to France, and Eliot Wadsworth, assistant secretary of the American treasury, are said to have spoken plainly to French ministers in Paris last week along these lines.

France is resentful of American interference in the Rhineland and has made it plain that she does not want American mediation in the Ruhr.

Recently inspired articles have appeared in French newspapers saying, that France would not listen to the proposal for American intervention except on these two conditions:

1—Cancellation of war debts.

2—Ratification of a pact to secure France's frontiers and her territory in war time.

It is generally believed that these articles were intended to frighten off American mediation as the American congress has already rejected a French security pact and the Washington government has made it plain that it will not cancel war debts.

Germans Send Answer

BERLIN, March 5.—Germany's decision not to conduct any reparations negotiations with France and Belgium nor to take make any payments of any kind, during military occupation of the Ruhr, was formally put into effect today. Answering a communication from the inter allied reparations commission, the government refused to deliver fertilizer to the French and Belgians as demanded.

The German government announced that it would refuse to even discuss reparations payments with France and Belgium so long as the Ruhr was occupied. However, negotiations are in progress with Italy, as that country did not send any troops to assist the Franco-Belgina forces in their new territorial seizures.

U. S. Denies Report.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Official denial was made at the state department that any representations had been made to France in connection with the occupation of the Ruhr. It was also stated that no such move was contemplated, although officials are known to be greatly concerned over the effect of the customs barriers established by the French.

Secretary of State Hughes conferred with President Harding at the White House for an hour this morning and is understood to have discussed the probable effect of the Ruhr situation on the United States.

Sentence Postmasters.

BONNE GERMANY, March 5.—Postmaster Schmidt today was sentenced to one year and to pay a fine of 100,000 marks for putting up signs in the postoffice reading:

"Ruhr contributions accepted here." The French military court which imposed the sentence charged that such signs endangered the safety of the occupying troops."

MAYENCE. March 5.—Postmaster Klingelhoefer was sentenced to one year's imprisonment and to pay a fine of 100,000 marks by a French courtmartial today. The accusation was that he paid money-orders to German rail strikers against French orders.

CLEVELAND WOMAN SEEKS $25,000 FOR LOSS OF HER HUSBAND'S LOVE

Mrs. Louise Kiefer and her son, Richard.

Valuing a lost husband's devotion, with interest from 1919, at $25,000, Mrs. Louise Kiefer of Cleveland has sued her mother-in-law, Mrs. Alvina Fisher, for alleged alienation of affections. She charges that her husband, Arthur Kiefer, has been "A. W. O. L." since 1919 because of the "petting, pampering and spoiling" of Mrs. Fisher.

BRITISH TORY GOVERNMENT IS HIT, ELECTION

LONDON, March 5.—The first break in the tory government of Andrew Bonar Law came today when Lieutenant Colonel G. F. Stanley resigned as under secretary of state for home affairs. His resignation was made inevitable by his defeat in the Willesden bye election of Harcourt Johnstone, a liberal, on Saturday.

The defeat of Colonel Stanley, who is a brother of Lord Derby, secretary of state for war, increases the strength of former premier David Lloyd George Furthermore, it is believed to have furthered the prospects of a reconciliation between the Asquith and Lloyd George factions of the liberal party.

Political students declare that the tory defeat points to dissatisfaction with the home policies of the Bonar Law government rather than hostility to the foreign policy.

The blow at the tory government was further accentuated by the defeat of Sir Arthur Griffith Boscawen, tory, and minister of health, in the bye election at Mitcham. The victor was J. C. Ede, a labor te.

In the last two bye elections candidates supporting the Bonar Law government have been defeated.

ASKS POWER SURVEY

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 5.—Governor Pinchot today asked for a survey of a "giant power system" embracing all the water and fuel facilities of the middle Atlantic states, that will point the way to secure for all industries, farms, homes and railroads in the state an abundant supply of cheap electric energy. In a letter to Representative C. Clyde Harer, chairman of the House appropriations committee, the governor outlined his plan.

YOUNG WHITNEY WEDS IN PARIS

PARIS March 5.—The most fashionable event of the winter social season in the American colony took place today when Miss Marie Norton, of New York, was married to Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, of New York, and grandson of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt. The ceremony took place in the American pro-cathedral.

"Sculptured gowns" proved a fashion feature. The dresses of Mrs. Whitney, mother of the groom and those of the bridesmaids were along statuesque lines. They were designed by Yvonne Davidson, wife of the famous sculptor.

The bridesmaids were Miss Frances Norton and Miss Barbara Whitney.

Funeral Held Today

The two sisters stand high in this community, and they feel very badly and are sensitive over the turn of affairs, but at once determined to care for their brother and see that he was laid away beside his parents. "I only did what I thought was right and what any sister should do for their brother, no matter what he had done," said Miss Hulf. They also called attention to the fact that although he had been accused of the murder, that fact was never proved.

Funeral services were held at the Sudro funeral home this afternoon at 2 o'clock, and were strictly private.

"I drew a revolver and shot him. I do not know whether I fired once or twice."

Miss Thomas said Cornish had beat her on several occasions.

THINKS SCHOOLS SHOULD BE ACCESSIBLE

Owen L. Lovejoy, Social Welfare lecturer, and chairman of the National Child Labor Committee, gave an entertaining address at the Church of Christ yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the open forum, on "Making the Public Schools Public."

The speaker advocated making the work of the public schools more accessible to the parents and he believed that the more publicity given them and their work the better. Too often the public pay no attention to the schools and treat them with indifference. Parent-Teacher's associations have done good work by co-operating with the schools in many ways. He called attention to the health problems of the schools and said that many schools paid no attention to this important work of safe guarding the health of a child, and correcting any defects that might easily be done away with. He criticised the practice in some schools of promoting from grade to grade in a body, but thought that it was better to have special teachers to look after those who were backward. He also declared that the pay of the school teacher was not what it ought to be averaging $300 a year in the country schools, and $800 a year in the city schools.

REVIVALS TO CONTINUE AT METHODIST CHURCH

The Revival services at the M. E. church were very largely attended at both the morning and evening meetings, yesterday.

In the morning, a picture was drawn of the helplessness of evil today. The lack of earnest prayer and co-operation with God, were given as the causes of the Church's helplessness.

In the evening, the "Guile, Glare and Glory of Woman" was the theme. A representation of the possibilities of woman was drawn and the possibilities of sin and of saintliness. At the close of the sermon, a tribute was paid to mother and her influence. Mr. Vickers sang a very appropriate song, "My Mother's Prayer."

The Revivals will continue this week. And the subjects are as follows:

WILL SUITS OR GOWNS LEAD AT AFTERNOON AFFAIRS?

Women who are pausing before spring window displays, women who are "just looking" in the dress departments and women who are hunting for some pretty spring material, all have one thought in common. What are they going to wear this season? Are dresses and wraps to predominate or will it be a suit season? From present indications the answer is that although honors are pretty even, the suits are a bit ahead. The reason for this is that designers have put forth so many dressy suits this year that one feels just as formally gowned in a suit as in many of the dresses. Here are two suits designed for afternoon wear and one gown. One would be quite as correctly dressed in either type of garment at any afternoon affair.

Unless we grow hair. The Van Ess 3-bottle treatment is absolutely guaranteed. You are the sole judge. The warrant is signed by your own druggist. All we require is his signature showing you have purchased a ninety-day treatment. If it fails, we refund your money. Hence you assume no risk making this test.

Glorious Hair Guaranteed!

New Hair Grown in 90 Days. Falling Hair Stopped or Money Refunded. This New Way

Science discovers most falling, lusterless hair due to simple infection (Sebum). Now quickly overcomes it

Hair softly gleaming, a world of it—countless women now enjoy it!

The test we offer you, they made. And every day, scores write to thank us for it.

Your own druggist or department store gives you the signed warrant. Falling hair stopped. New hair grown in 90 days. If the treatment fails, it will cost you nothing.

That Infected Sebum

Science now traces most hair troubles to a simple infection of that oil in your scalp, called Sebum.

It has been learned that hair roots rarely ever die. And they can be revived.

We have proved this conclusively by actually growing new hair in 91 cases in 100.

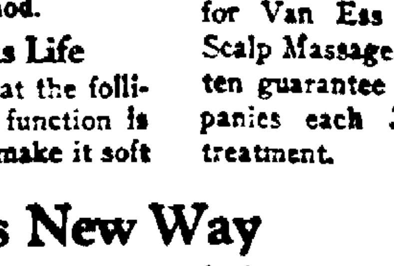

We do it by combating that infected Sebum in a new way—a scientific way heretofore unknown. Results are quick and amazing. And so certain that we have no fear to guarantee our method.

Why Your Hair Lacks Life

Sebum is an oil that forms at the follicles of the hair. Its natural function is to supply the hair with oil to make it soft and wavy. But, science now proves that it is also the cause of most hair troubles.

Frequently it becomes infected. It cakes on the scalp; clogs the follicles and plugs them. You can see it in your hair, either in the form of dandruff or an oily excretion at the hair roots.

Bacteria by the millions breed in it and often inflame the scalp. Then they begin to feed upon the hair. Soon falling hair starts. In a short time all the natural lustre and beauty of your hair are gone.

But—and note this scientific fact — remove the infected Sebum and the hair reverts back to the softness and brilliancy it displayed when you were a school girl.

The Van Ess treatment accomplishes that result. We know you will doubt it. So we guarantee each 90-day treatment.

New hair grown (in 90 days) and falling hair stopped. Your own druggist gives you our guarantee to do these things. He signs it. If we fail, your money will be refunded by us without argument. Go to any druggist or department store today. Ask for Van Ess Liquid Scalp Massage. Written guarantee accompanies each 3-bottle treatment.

VAN ESS

Note This New Way

—It massages the treatment directly to the follicles of the hair

You can see from illustration that Van Ess is not a "tonic." It combines a massage and lotion in one treatment. You do not rub it in with your fingers. Each package comes with a rubber massage cap. The nipples are hollow. Just invert bottle, rub your head and nipples automatically feed lotion down to follicles of the scalp where it can do some good. At the same time the nipples give your head a massage.

It is very easy to apply. One minute each day is enough.

USES HAMMER TO MURDER NEGRO

COLUMBUS, March 5.—Police are searching today for the "hammer murderer" who brutually beat Benjamin Phifer, 55, colored, to death. Officers said his skull was fractured in several places, and a blood stained claw hammer, evidently used by the slayer to commit the deed, was found near the body.

Robbery was not the motive, police said, for a small sum of money was found untouched in Phifer's pockets.

Won't someone make this little girl happy by giving her a real father's and mother's love. If any one wants to help this little girl, write The Child Care Bureau, 9th and Oak street, Columbus Ohio.

Theatres

Grand—Marion Davis and Tom Lewis, in that delightful picture "Adam and Eve," taken from the play of the same name that made such a decided New York success. No expense was spared in the regal magnificence of the costly settings, the prodigal variety of the costly gowns, the splendor of the water pageant, and other features. The wonderful Venetian party is a real triumph of camera art and artistic staging. The love episodes are skillfully handled the comedy is breezy and sparkling, the subtitles are snappily effective.

American—John Barrymore in "Sherlock Holmes," supported by Carol Dempster. The story is adapted from William Gillette's stage play and founded on the Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's stories. Detective stories are popular with a great many people, and this film is full of startling situations that are worked out smoothly and artistically. It is a great picture that should be seen to be appreciated.

Dreamland—"One Glove Wilson" a screaming western story told on the screen together with another episode of "Speed." The news of the week and a good comedy go to make up a fine program.

CLEVELAND, March 5.—"Our proposal to Mayor Kohler was our last word," said President Martin B. Daly, of the East Ohio Gas Company today discussing the deadlock with the city council over gas rates. SUPERB CAST PRESENTS "THE CIRCLE" AT THE RIALTO THEATRE TONIGHT

NORMAN HACKETT

Mr. Wilton Lackaye's role in "The Circle," that is the attraction at the Rialto theatre tonight, fits him so perfectly that it is hard to make one believe that it was not a ready-made affair. There is even a wrinkle across the shoulders and the part he portrays is all that it should be to give this excellent actor the opportunity to display the ability that has established him so warmly in the hearts of theatregoers. Henry E. Dixey, the sterling American actor, has been a Broadway star so long that he needs no introduction, the mere mention of his name with a play assures one that it has quality and class. Like the proverbial well-made glove on the hand is Amelia Bingham's part in Somerset Maugham's comedy which ran for a solid year at the Selwyn theatre, New York, equaling its record in London and Paris. Along with these go a cast, the most unique ever sent on tour, among whom are Charlotte Walker, who has charm, finesse, technique and everything else that goes to make a successful star. Norman Hackett is always splendid and has had occasion to display his talent here to local theatre-goers in other vehicles.

For the presentation of "The Circle," the Selywns have provided a production that is worthy of the subject, and while the play encompasses but one scene, this is set with a lavish care for detail that would please the sensibilities of an interior decorator. And by the same token Mr. Maugham has provided a play that is worthy of its prdouction. While essentially a comedy, "The Circle" is by way of being a gentle satire on life. It deals with free love, and the futility of changing the mind of youth once it is made up, and that, too, in the face of obvious evidence of Mr. Maugham's wisdom anent" nor all your piety nor wit can lure it back to cancel half a line," and so on.

TWISTS CORK SCREW INTO MATE'S BRAIN

STEUBENVILLE, March 5.—A corkscrew wound in the head may cause the death of William Simmons, 32, colored, who was attacked and brutually beaten and mutilated by his wife, Mrs. Valetha Simmons, at their home last night. Simmons is dying in a hospital and Mrs. Simmons is in the county jail.

Police were called to the Simmons home and found the husband lying in a pool of blood. His face had been beaten to a pulp with dishes from a nearby table. Both of his eyes were almost gouged out, and his nose broken. A wound in the back of the head was discovered and a bloody corkscrew was found on the floor near him. Police and hospital attendants said the corkscrew was twisted through the man's skull near the base of the brain.

The attack on Simmons was made by his wife during a mania of frenzy. Mrs. Simmons is a drug addict. Simmons is alleged to have arrived home in a drunken condition and the assault followed.

WHAT DOES YEAR HOLD FOR $100,000 BEAUTIES

Two $100,000 beauties have started training for the grand baseball free-for-all of 1923 with the knowledge that they've got to live up to expectations created by enthusiastic admirers and scribes on the Pacific coast or find the going darned tough. They are Jimmy O'Connell, the outfielder the Giants purchased from San Francisco, and Willie Kamm, the star third baseman of the same club, who was bought by the White Sox. Being in different circuits, they will not be crowding each other for the spotlight, but there will be numerous other "beauties" costing from $40,000 to $75,000 who will take great delight in showing them up. And the fan critics will turn a sharp eye on them. Will both stand the gaff?

Why March is Most Dangerous

March is the most dangerous month of the year because the change of season is more than a good many systems can stand. Too often it is true that the sick "last only till spring." But if the system is fortified, if the impurities are driven from the blood, and the nerve tissues fed with wholesome and strength-giving food medicine, there is no danger in the change of seasons. Father John's Medicine is invaluable as a tonic in the spring. It strengthens the system and drives out the poisonous waste matter—builds up the body. It is this power that has made it so successful in treating colds and throat troubles. No weakening stimulants, morphine or other dangerous drugs.—Advt.

MY MARRIAGE PROBLEMS

Adele Garrison's New Phase of

Revelations of a Wife

Copyright, 1923, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

The Frank Answers Lillian Gave Madge's Questions.

I COULD find no reply to Lillian's argument that either she or my father must stay at the farmhouse for the two days which must pass before Dicky's return, even though the news I had brought called for the conference of both my father and Lillian with Allen Drake as soon as one could be arranged.

I knew that she spoke but the truth when she depicted the actual peril which was mine from either Grace Draper or the man who called himself Smith, but whom we had discovered to be an exiled member of a formerly powerful European royal house.

It chafed my spirit to feel that because of me the progress of Lillian's work was being even slightly delayed, but the prompt quietus she had just put upon my first protest made me chary of attempting further expostulations. I saw, however, from Lillian's quick appraising glance at me that she comprehended my feeling, an understanding that she quickly put into tactful words.

"Don't worry your brain about the watch over you being the cause of any delay on the five-fifteen," she said flippantly. "I fancy you are sufficiently acquainted with me to know that if the success or failure of this thing was a matter of hours or even days, I would go at once and trust that 'heaven would defend the working girl.'" She quoted the famous old quip with a whimsical moue. "But their big scheme won't be launched in such a hurry. It is their private grudges, such as those against you, which they are likely to try to satisfy first."

"Poor Tom Chester."

She hesitated for a second, as if wondering how best to frame her next words.

"If only it were feasible for you to go away for a while, we wouldn't have to worry about the place here, for with you and your father gone, there would be no interest here for either their private schemes of vengeance or their big plot. The farmhouse would be as safe as a church for Junior and the rest. However, it is better for you to stay here, but I shall expect you to be mighty careful not to go gallivanting around lonely places by yourself. I'll put a flea in the Dicky-bird's ear to look after you, and under the plea of 'government work'—which is without any falsehood—those Legion boys, whose leader poor Tom Chester is, will take turns watching out for suspicious characters around the farmhouse. So you're as safe as we can make you."

"And as useless as a doll wrapped in cotton wool!" I said bitterly, but regretted it as I saw the expression in Lillian's eyes.

"Don't forget your Milton," she admonished with apparent lightness, but real annoyance, "even if your serving means sitting down and waiting instead of standing. Remember, you've done your share in this thing two or three times over. That little matter of the code, and the time when you turned over the gifted Mr. Smith to Allen's care, were no trifles. You've earned the right to rest—but—forgive me—not the privilege of rebelling against necessary restrictions."

Grave Danger.

"It is for me to ask your forgiveness," I returned contritely. "And I won't offend again. But—isn't my father in even more danger than I?"

A shadow passed over her face.

"I shan't tell you an untruth," she said. "He is in the gravest danger of us all. That's one reason why I shall be glad to have him join Allen. Neither man will take any precautions for himself, but each will look out sharply for the other. And I shall see to it that he is protected upon his journey to Allen. After that—the knees of the gods.

"You see," she went on, "part of the success of their scheme—or so I figure it—is predicated upon their getting hold of that device of your father's which Joe tried to get from Katie. They won't go on with their devilish plans until they've made an awful stab for that.

"They're keen enough to know now that it isn't here," she eyed me keenly, "and that your father does not carry it on his person, but—you must be brave—we have to face these possibilities—if they get hold of your father or you, or Allen, or me, they're very apt to try to find out from us the hiding place of his device. And their methods of doing so won't be any girls'-boarding-school, freshman-hazing exercises, either. You can wager your last picayune on that."

George Gray, former Medinian, now a business man of Fostoria, will give an illustrated lecture on Palestine, March 11.

The Medina Community Orchestra will give a concert at Creston, March 20.
